Tribeca Hit Documentary VEGAS BABY to Premiere on AMERICA REFRAMED

A Film by Amanda Micheli and Executive Producer Morgan Spurlock Takes an In Depth Look Into In Vitro Fertilization and Will Premiere on Tuesday, June 27, 2017 at 8 p.m. on WORLD Channel

“Through a humane, emotional examination of the contest...director Amanda Micheli’s documentary highlights the complexity and despair of America’s fertility industry.”

– Joe McGovern, Entertainment Weekly

May 30, 2017 – (New York, NY) – Amanda Micheli’s Tribeca Film Festival hit documentary, VEGAS BABY, will have its U.S. television premiere Tuesday, June 27, 2017 at 8 p.m. on WORLD Channel (check local listings), as part of the new season of public media’s AMERICA REFRAMED. This moving film exposes the emotional and financial costs of the gamble of infertility treatment.

Directed by Oscar® nominated filmmaker Amanda Micheli and executive produced by Oscar® nominated Morgan Spurlock, VEGAS BABY pulls back the curtain on the world of reproductive medicine through a provocative, “truth is stranger than fiction” premise. The film follows aspiring parents from all walks of life who place themselves in the hands of a Las Vegas doctor and his annual contest, which offers the prize of a free round of IVF – with no guarantee of success. Contestants post video entries online telling their stories, counting on the votes of strangers to help them realize their dream of becoming parents.

While exposing private pain online to win a contest is a brutal proposition, IVF is rarely covered by insurance, so many infertile couples consider this a gamble worth taking. VEGAS BABY navigates the complexities of America's burgeoning fertility industry and paints an intimate portrait of the diverse individuals – from a devoutly Catholic Latino couple in Texas to a lesbian Lady Gaga Impersonator in New York – determined to have a baby against all odds.

One in eight American couples have difficulty getting pregnant or carrying a baby to term, according to the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC). But for fear of judgment or heartache or both, would-be parents tend to keep their infertility stories secret. VEGAS BABY breaks the silence around this often misunderstood medical and social issue, and through her intimate lens, Micheli explores universal themes of desire and loss.

Micheli describes her own personal infertility experience which inspired her to make the film, during which her husband was diagnosed with testicular cancer: “It felt like the doctor took over our bedroom and our savings account all at once, and it put an incredible strain on our marriage. Thankfully, my husband’s cancer was treatable, and is in remission. I wish I could say the same about our infertility.”

She adds, “While I can’t control any of this, I can use my skills as a filmmaker to give a voice to the millions of Americans — straight, gay, coupled, or going it alone — who struggle with infertility in isolation. By humanizing their stories, my goal is to start a conversation about the flipside of reproductive choice: the choice to have a child.”

The documentary series, AMERICA REFRAMED, is dedicated to highlighting intimate stories by emerging and veteran filmmakers who are chronicling an ever-changing America. The television broadcast of VEGAS BABY will be followed by free streaming for audiences across the U.S. at www.worldchannel.org/americareframed starting on June 28th.
